Davis Given Life Sentence in Macon Slaying

JURY CONSIDERS CASE 19 HOURS BEFORE VERDICT

Bars Davis, White Man, Convicted of Complicity in Murder of Betrothed Pair.

NEGRO SENTENCED TO DIE NEXT WEEK

Two Men Convicted of Killing Miss Smith and E. W. Wilson, Found Dead on Lonely Road.

Macon, Ga., September 3.—(AP)—Bars Davis was convicted by a jury in Bibb superior court here this afternoon of complicity in the murder of Miss Hilda Smith and E. W. Wilson on July 10 and sentenced to life imprisonment. The second count of the indictment, on which he was found guilty after the jury deliberated 19 hours, charged him with being accessory before the fact.

Ed Glover, negro, who confessed to the killing of Miss Smith and E. W. Wilson, her companion, at the same time, naming Davis as the instigator of the crime, has been sentenced to die in the electric chair on September 9. He has already been removed to the state prison farm.

Davis, farm hand and alleged bootlegger, returned to the Bibb county jail declaring his innocence, following his conviction.

Davis sat calmly in court while the verdict was read. His mother, who sat beside him, was equally silent.

The jury had been out since 9:30 o'clock last night and during this morning visited the scene of the crime. The verdict was reached at 4:15 o'clock this afternoon. Sentence of life imprisonment was immediately passed by Judge H. A. Mathews.

MAN AND WIFE SLAIN IN HOME

Robbery Is Seen as Motive for Death of Wealthy Couple in Southwest Georgia.

Union, Ga., September 3.—(Special)—E. F. Hoffman, 60, and his wife were found killed in the kitchen of their home at Bluffton, eight miles from here, this afternoon. No direct clues to the slayers have been found, but it is thought that robbery was the motive for the crime.

Mr. Hoffman was a private banker and was known to keep large sums of money in his home, despite the advice of friends. He had extensive farming interests, ran a store and was one of the wealthiest men in this section.

The double killing occurred in Stewart county, and immediately upon receipt of the report at Lumpkin headquarters were dispatched to the scene and late tonight, a search for the slayers was being pushed by a big posse, headed by Sheriff W. K. Johnson and Warden J. C. Deason, of Stewart county. Coroner J. C. Joiner left Lumpkin early tonight to hold an inquest over the bodies.

Hoffman, a former citizen of Columbus, was a farmer and merchant at Bluffton. They had no children.

Second Man Convicted for Death of Macon Couple

MILLER RECEIVER NAMED IN ATLANTA

Bolling Jones Will Take Charge of Properties Here; Berenson Made New York Receiver.

On the heels of appointment Friday in New York federal court of a receiver for G. L. Miller & Co., dealer in bonds, Judge Samuel H. Sibley Friday night named Bolling H. Jones, chairman of the board of the Fulton National bank, as receiver for properties of the concern in the northern district of Georgia.

The appointment was made when the legal firm of Little, Powell, Smith & Goldstein presented to Judge Sibley at his home Thursday night an ancillary to the petition for receivership in equity filed in New York earlier in the day. Judge Sibley ordered that Mr. Jones be placed under $25,000 bond as receiver.

Theater Unfinished.

The only unfinished project of the Miller company within the jurisdiction of Judge Sibley's court is the theater directly behind the Henry Grady hotel, which is now almost completed. The court action here will leave within the discretion of the receiver the matter of completing the structure, and while Mr. Jones said he had no definite statement to make, it was believed the theater would be rushed to completion in view of the fact that it now is almost finished and that a big vaudeville interest scheduled to lease the structure is said to be desirous of securing possession of it at an early date.

"I have just been appointed and have not yet qualified as receiver," Mr. Jones said Friday night. "However, I will immediately look into the matter of carrying the theater to completion and will make a report of my findings to the court as early as possible."

Economy Is Promised.

"I also wish to say that while I have not become acquainted with details of the company's properties in this district, I will administer its affairs as economically as possible and will do all in my power to see that none of the Miller company's creditors and bondholders suffer loss as a result of the receivership."

The ancillary filed with Judge Sibley does not allege that the Miller company is insolvent, but places its assets at $9,600,000 and its liabilities at $8,600,000.

It alleges that while the company's assets exceed its liabilities, appointment of a receiver is necessary because the company is unable to realize sufficient cash at this time to complete many of its building projects.

The Miller company, a New York concern, for several years maintained a branch office here and handled bonds on many building projects in Atlanta.

BERENSON IS NAMED RECEIVER IN NEW YORK.
New York, September 3.—(AP)—G. L. Miller & Co., one of the largest real estate and mortgage bond houses in this country, went into equity receivership today.

Assets of the company were placed at $9,636,987 and its liabilities at $8,615,324. Lawrence Berenson was appointed receiver and placed under $100,000 bond.

E. W. Wilson and Miss Hilda Smith, betrothed Macon couple, whose brutal murder on July 10 has caused the conviction of two men. Bars Davis, a white man, Friday was convicted of complicity in the murder and was sentenced to life imprisonment. Ed Glover, a negro, was recently convicted and sentenced to be electrocuted next week, he having confessed that he fired the shots that killed the pair, claiming that he did so at the instance of Davis.

WATKINS DENIES SUIT WAS FILED AS POLITICAL ACT

Attorney Replies to Charge of Holder Campaign Manager on Highway Restraining Order.

Charges that the injunction filed Thursday to prevent letting of a contract for road construction on the Coastal highway on the partial or deferred payment plan as a "political move," was replied to late Friday in a statement by Edgar Watkins, Atlanta lawyer, who filed the petition.

"If it has any political effect it will be only that effect which follows from exposing a situation," Mr. Watkins said in replying to the "political move" charge made earlier in the day by Thomas J. Hamilton, campaign manager for John N. Holder.

The statement from Holder's headquarters Thursday morning followed on the heels of a temporary restraining order signed by Judge E. E. Pomeroy, in Fulton superior court, preventing the state highway department from letting the contract for road construction on the coastal highway on any plan except a cash payment basis. The petition set out that the highway board's efforts were in violation of the constitution of Georgia, not within the board's authority and characterized the plan as wasteful, extravagant and, if permitted, would result in a loss to the state of $81,000 in interest and carrying charges above the cost of the road work.

Watkins' Statement.
Mr. Watkins' statement follows: "In a statement issued by Thomas J. Hamilton, manager of the J. N. Holder campaign committee, with reference to the case of Reed against state highway department of Georgia, this case is characterized as political and the suggestion is made that the constitutional amendment authorizing Coastal highway bonds, justifies the creation of a debt by the state highway department."

The statement from the campaign headquarters of Mr. Holder makes no reference to the fact that similar bids were asked when it was sought to construct a road in the Nacoochee valley—a road entirely unaffected by the 1924 constitutional amendment.

"No candidate for governor nor any person on behalf of any candidate for governor suggested to my clients the filing of the petition on which Judge Pomeroy granted an injunction. If it was expected that tests of the S-35, including a cross-country flight to Washington and back, now would be made without any further interruption except by possible weather conditions. Yesterday the Argonauts, Inc., promoters of the expedition, had included Captain Fonck as a member of the flight, today withdrew his claim. After he had a talk with Captain Rene Fonck, French ace designated as leader of the flight, they embraced and the controversy was considered ended.

Flights Expected.
It was expected that tests of the S-35, including a cross-country flight to Washington and back, now would be made without any further interruption except by possible weather conditions. Yesterday the Argonauts, Inc., promoters of the expedition, had included Captain Fonck as a member of the flight, today withdrew his claim. After he had a talk with Captain Rene Fonck, French ace designated as leader of the flight, they embraced and the controversy was considered ended.

Dissension Arises.
Captain Berry, who is a member of the Argonauts, had signed with Captain E. J. an agreement which, the former claimed, entitled him to go on the flight as a pilot. When Captain Fonck refused him a place in the crew, dissension arose, with the Argonauts supporting Captain Berry.

Bennett Sandler, attorney for the Argonauts, arranged the peace conference today at which the principal figures in the dispute agreed to bury the hatchet. In his announcement of the agreement, Mr. Sandler said:

"After a long conference between Berry and Fonck, Captain Berry withdrew from the flight and Fonck and Berry embraced each other and when they parted were the best of friends. Captain Berry said the flight was the most important thing for America and as much as he would have liked to accompany Captain Fonck in the interest of aviation he would step aside and not press his claim."

AMERICA TO BAR RACE FOR ARMS SAYS PRESIDENT

President's Opinion Is Given Against Competition With Other Nations in Any Service.

ADEQUATE DEFENSE ALL AMERICA ASKS

Executive Apparently Would Make It Plain That Wilbur's Statement Is No Challenge.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Paul Smiths, N. Y., September 3.—The pronouncement that the United States does not intend to compete with other nations in any form of armament, even where there is no treaty restriction, was made on behalf of President Coolidge at the summer white house Friday.

This statement, which goes farther than any previous utterance in the direction of discouraging armament races between nations, was provoked by a statement made by Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, who is understood here to have said that when the United States completes its naval aviation program it will lead the world in that respect.

Speaks to Nations.
The president, through his spokesman, apparently sought to make plain to other nations who might regard the Wilbur statement as a challenge that the United States is not trying to outbuild any other power in any respect. All that this nation is concerned with, the spokesman said, is adequate defense.

The president's spokesman emphasized that the United States favored and had repeatedly sought limitation on the construction of all kinds of military weapons. France, among other nations, refused at the Washington arms conference to limit aircraft and other nations objected to submarine limitations. Since that time President Coolidge has been maneuvering for a second arms conference to consider these questions. He laid his plan aside temporarily when the League of Nations sought to promote a conference to the same end, just a few days ago Secretary of State Kellogg declared in his Plattsburg speech that the United States would see the league effort through hoping for further limitation by any practicable means.

May Call Conference.
The utterance here today indicated that the president's desire was as strong as ever and that he would, if the league effort failed, renew his attempt to bring about a conference.

The spokesman said that the president was not in favor of a competitive race with any country in any branch of military preparation. This government reserves the right to do what it thinks is necessary for the nation's defense without any regard to what another country may be doing. But it was expressly stated that it was not competing in submarines, cruisers, destroyers, or aviation.

"Our aviation is as far advanced as that of any other country, not because the United States is trying to compete, but because a program has been developed in response to requirements of adequate defense. The American aviation program, it was stated, is in many respects better than that of some major powers. Some may have more airplanes, it was remarked, but none had better ones."

SENATOR HARRIS LOSES TROUSERS TO QUEBEC THIEF

Washington, September 3.—(AP)—Senator Harris, democrat, Georgia, one of the immaculate dressers of the senate, arrived in Washington today from Quebec, Canada, minus his best pair of pants and a hat. A thief sneaked into his hotel room and was making away with all of his clothes and money when the senator awakened. The burglar dropped part of his loot and fled.

U. S. Reservations Will Be Accepted, Delegates Agree

Opinion Practically Unanimous as Conference Is Adjourned Until After League Meeting.

SUCCESS OF PLAN SEEN BY COOLIDGE

President Confident Study of Article Five Will Show All America Asks Is Fair Deal.

BY HENRY WOOD.

Geneva, September 3.—The American reservations to adherence to the world court eventually will be accepted.

This was the virtually unanimous opinion of the delegates to the conference which adjourned Friday night until after the meeting of the League of Nations assembly.

The jurists, representing 38 of the 48 signatories of The Hague court protocol, ended their discussions on the five reservations of the United States senate after accepting, on the first reading, the first four and the first half of the fifth.

Fifth Reservation.
The ultimate entrance of the United States into the permanent court of international justice hinges, therefore, upon the last half of the fifth reservation.

President Van Eysinga, of Holland, summed up the situation which exists by saying that a committee will seek means of accepting the last half of the reservation, but it will also be necessary to decide upon the name whereby Washington should be advised of the conference's action.

Before the conference adjourned, various suggestions were made concerning the disputed reservation with an international standpoint. It had been argued that the reservation gave the United States superiority over the nations, including those which were members of the league council.

Plans Amendment.
M. Rolin of Belgium, made a definite proposition for amending the fifth reservation.

"I think we could accept it," he said, "if it were made to read that the court cannot render advisory opinions in cases where the United States claims and has an interest."

This amendment apparently would have permitted the court to decide whether a United States claim to interest in any question referred to the court for an opinion, had basis in fact.

The reservation, as worded by the senate, reads "has or claims an interest."

Public Gets First Glimpse
BENNETT TELLS OF EFFORTS TO AVERT FAILURES 'Behind Scenes' in Bank Crash

The public Friday was given its first "glimpse behind the scenes" in the collapse of the Manley chain of banks by Y. R. Bennett, state superintendent of banks.

Under fire from the Fulton county grand jury, Superintendent Bennett made public a lengthy letter he addressed to bankers all over the state under date of August 31, in which he "rendered an account of his stewardship" in the matter of the bank failure sensation, and lay bare every detail leading up to the collapse of Manley's financial institutions in this state and Florida. A copy of this letter to the bankers was transmitted by Bennett to Governor Walker.

Mr. Bennett told how the Manley banks, in operation when he took office, withstood the deflation period of 1920-1922 and appeared in a highly prosperous condition during the Florida boom. He added, however, that he became apprehensive of a collapse of this boom and in the fall of 1925 had his auditors go over carefully with heads of each of the chain banks the paper they were carrying. He was assured, he said, that this paper was good, and pointed out that he did not exceed his authority by taking the opposite position, "which would have amounted to imputing perjury to the officers who had made disclosures to my auditors."

He said he made known certain of his views concerning rehabilitation of the Bankers' Trust company to L. H. Adams, secretary, and John D. Russell, assistant secretary, and they took the matter up with Manley, the president.

SLAYER OF RIVAL FOR WIFE IS HELD ON MURDER COUNT

Love Triangle Unfolded at Hearing of Grandson of Two Great Canadian Magnates.

Canterbury, Eng., September 3.—

(AP)—Alphonse F. A. Smith, grandson of Hugh Ryan and Sir Frederick Smith, Canadian magnates, from each of whom he inherited great wealth, was charged tonight with the murder of John Thomas Derham at Smith's villa on August 12. He was committed for trial at the next assizes. Derham was a member of a well-known British family.

The pronouncement was given on the completion of the evidence at the arraignment of Smith, whose comment was:

"I have nothing to say except that I am not guilty."

Smith's counsel argued that the evidence did not warrant a conviction except for manslaughter.

Drama of Jealousy Bared.
A remarkable drama of jealousy and anger was unfolded at the hearing. The victim, it is alleged, was lured to the scene of his death by a false telegram sent in the woman's name by her husband.

There is no eyewitness of the fatal shot except the wife, who was not called on to give evidence. Her sister had seen the quarrel that had preceded the slaying, but was in her own room upstairs when the fatal shot was fired. The death struggle of the two men in the drawing room was a fierce contest, but the only independent witness of the slaying was a passing stranger who observed it through a window.

When arrested, Smith turned over to the police a letter which bore the possible construction that he had intended to commit suicide and his line of defense seems to be that in the struggle a bullet intended to end his own life killed Derham.

The tragedy occurred after the three, the two men and the woman concerned, had supped together in a local hotel on terms of apparent friendliness. Today in court the prosecuting attorney seemed to pay special attention to the suicide threat, pointing out that had Smith intended to commit suicide he would not have had to await Derham's presence. He pointed out also that the medical evi-

SOVIET PLANNING U. S. RECOGNITION

BY DONALD DAY.
(Copyright, 1926, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Riga, Latvia, September 3.—A campaign to urge the recognition of the soviet government by the United States is well under way in America and new methods are being used by the soviet government to increase the number of communist sympathizers there.

According to the latest plan of the Third Internationale, the soviet government has decided to plant three trained agitators in every large university and college in the United States. Hundreds of students plentifully supplied with funds from the commissariat of education at Moscow and fully equipped with documents have been applying in recent weeks to the American consulate at Riga for visas to enter America. Many of these agitators have already reached America and enrolled as soviet students at the universities, scores of others are being held up while the characters of the applicants are being investigated by the American authorities. The present immigration law contains a clause permitting students to enter and study in American educational institutions. The students have been instructed to organize clubs and societies to study the soviet government and hold frequent meetings in which resolutions are to be passed urging the immediate recognition of Russia by the United States.

BUBONIC PLAGUE CASES REPORTED IN 'QUAKE CITY'

Horta, Fayal, Azores, September 3. (AP)—While experts with experience in the Tokyo earthquake are directing the demolition of structures which were made unsafe by the quake which visited Horta and other places of the Azores islands Tuesday, the authorities are giving their attention to maintaining sanitary conditions. Although four cases of bubonic plague have been reported, two of those stricken having died from the disease since the quake, the governor of the islands, who is a physician, has announced that generally good sanitary conditions prevail, and steps are being taken to prevent outbreaks of disease. The two remaining plague victims have been isolated.

THREE MEN LANDED IN JAIL BY WOMEN

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
New York, September 3.—The truth of Kipling's reference to the deadliness of the female of the species, was impressed today upon three men languishing in cells here after three plucky women had brought about their arrests. Max Silverman, 17, impersonating a collector for a laundry, ran afoul of Mae Hughes, 23, and pretty, who caught him robbing her apartment in Brooklyn. She blocked his path and clung to him, screaming through a shower of blows, until help came. Another youth, Joseph Weitz, 21, rang the door bell of Mrs. Mary Glendenning, in Long Island city, and presented a gas bill which she paid. Then suspicious, she followed Weitz to a restaurant, called a policeman, and had him arrested. He admitted his deception, the police said. Salvatore Gollara, 20, a Brooklyn shoemaker, annoyed Miss Alice Breitenstein, 19, in the subway, as he sat beside her. Finally she slapped him. He struck back as the doors opened at a station. She chased him through the car and up to the street, where pedestrians captured him. Magistrate Corrigan sentenced him to 10 days in the work house.

GRIFFIN MILL PAYS BONUS TO EMPLOYEES

Griffin, Ga., September 3.—(Special.)—The officials of the Georgia-Kincaid mills have paid to their employees profit sharing bonus checks for the fiscal year ending August 30. There are some 1,700 employees in the chain of mills and a sum aggregating $29,000 was paid out, it was announced, to the various employees. It has been the custom for many years of the company to share its profits with its employees. The bonuses are paid on the basis of time of service with the company.

ANDERSONVILLE MAN HURT IN ACCIDENT

Andersonville, Ga., September 3.—(Special.)—Alex Rouse, while driving a truck across the tracks of the Central of Georgia railroad near here Friday, was struck by train No. 6 and had one leg broken and his hip and head bruised. He was picked up by the train crew and carried to Macon for treatment. He is about 18 years old and is the son of Mrs. Nellie Rouse, of this place. The truck was completely demolished.

Convicts Enjoy Divorced Mate Open Air Ride Of Dancer Seeks Up Fifth Avenue His Child in Vain

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

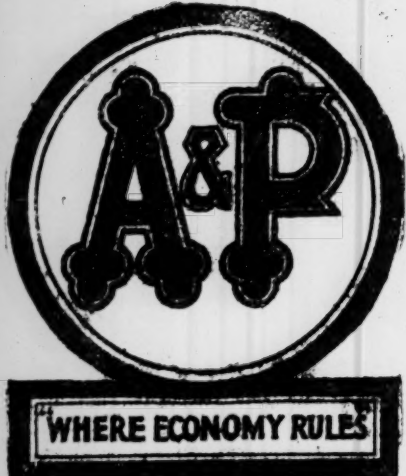

New York, September 3.—Eleven convicts, manacled together, today enjoyed an open-air ride up Fifth avenue on their way to Sing Sing prison. Three deputy sheriffs, with drawn guns, bled them in charge. They attracted much attention from the large crowd of early fall shoppers who were on the avenue.

When the usual transfer of Tombs prisoners was about to be made this morning it was discovered that the sheriff's Black Maria, a heavy steel-bodied motor truck, was out of commission, and all other police motor vehicles, save the police emergency wagon, an open truck, were in use. This was pressed into service. The 11 prisoners were placed aboard at the Tombs, taken to police headquarters, where they were fingerprinted and their histories recorded. The load was then whisked to Grand Central terminal and transferred to a train for Ossining.

Spring Green, Wis., September 3.—(AP)—Vladimir Hinzberg, Chicago architect, today appeared at the barred gates of Tallies, country villa of Frank Lloyd Wright, internationally known architect, in a vain attempt to obtain possession of his 9-year-old daughter from his divorced wife, Mme. Olga Milanoff, Wright's companion and housekeeper. Hinzberg obtained a writ of habeas corpus for the girl at Baraboo, Wis., today, having started action after Miriam Noel Wright, the architect's estranged wife, filed suit in Chicago for $100,000 against Mme. Milanoff, charging alienation of affections. Hinzberg charged that the child's mother was not a proper custodian for the girl.

The country estate apparently was deserted by its master and Mme. Milanoff when Hinzberg accompanied his attorney and a deputy sheriff to the place armed with the writ demanding that Mme. Milanoff or others produce the child who has been living at Tallies with the mother.

COOLIDGE QUALIFIES
AS REAL FISHERMAN

Paul Smith's, N. Y., September 3.—(AP)—President Coolidge qualified as a real trout fisherman today. Leaving White Pine camp early in the morning, he drove to the Ausable river, several miles east of Lake Placid village, and fished mountain brooks until almost mid-afternoon, going without his lunch, and returning to the summer white house, nine hours after his departure, with four fish.

The trip, which Mr. Coolidge made in the company of his guides, Oscar Otis and Ormon Doty, two representatives of the New York state conservation commission, and three secret service men, took him into some of the wildest country of the Adirondacks. He tramped for miles through a thick forest as he sought the trout in the Ausable's headwaters.

Forbidden by law to take trout after September 1 in Franklin county, in which his previous fishing had been done, Mr. Coolidge journeyed into Essex county, where the season does not close until next Tuesday.

FORMER WORKER
FOR DRY LEAGUE
TO SUPPORT WETS

New York, September 3.—(AP)—Dr. Henry Knight Miller, who was campaign worker for the Anti-Saloon league in Ohio and New Jersey for five years, today announced he had shifted his support from the prohibitionists to the anti-prohibitionists. His action, he said, was taken as a consequence of his conviction that prohibition "instead of solving the liquor problem has intensified the very evils which those who put prohibition over were trying to cure."

Dr. Miller was once pastor of the Hanson Place Methodist church in Brooklyn.

5.62 PER CENT RETURN
SEEN ON RAILROADS

Washington, September 3.—(AP)—Net railway operating income of class one railroads in July was placed by the bureau of railway economics today at $116,895,311.

The bureau, which is maintained by the railroads, estimated that on the basis of the carriers' property investment figures, this represented an annual rate of return of 5.62 per cent.

Gross operating revenues for July, the bureau said, were $556,514,938, compared with $522,484,181 in July, 1925, while operating expenses were $235,293,805 compared with $232,924,788. These figures disclosed a 6.5 per cent increase in revenues against an increase of only 3.2 per cent in expenses.

Of the 183 railroads considered in the report 15 operated at a loss in July—five in the eastern and 10 in the western district.

WOOD TO DELIVER
3 SPEECHES TODAY

J. O. Wood, candidate for governor, will deliver three addresses today. At 11 o'clock this morning he will speak to Paulding county voters at Dallas.

At 3 o'clock he will speak in the Coweta county courthouse at Newnan, and then go to Columbus, addressing a meeting in the Muscogee courthouse at 8:30 o'clock.

Dr. Caleb A. Ridley will speak in Wood's behalf at Lawrenceville early Saturday afternoon.

Missing Aviators Arrive.

Moundsville, W. Va., September 3.—(AP)—Missing for two days and believed to have been in the Allegheny mountains, Lloyd Stearnman, of Wichita, Kansas, and Harry Weiss, of New York, aviators, arrived at landing field here late last night. The aviators, on their way to the national air races at Philadelphia in a plane piloted by Stearnman, said upon their arrival here they had lost their way because of foggy and generally adverse weather conditions.

INSTALLMENT XXXV.

THE PARTY.

Holdingworth agreed. "I must admit she didn't exactly cheer up at his arrival! Nevertheless, my lad, don't let that impressionable heart of yours dwell too much upon the pretty lady's troubles. Take my advice and eat canny!"

"Heavens," flared Anders, "you haven't the soul of a barnacle! A lonely woman—in distress, at least that's my opinion—" "Your hope," broke in the other dryly. "Anders, you know perfectly well that if she'd a crooked nose or a ninety-inch waist, you be away over the skyline without a backward glance at her!"

The boy laughed ruefully. "I suppose that is true, enough," he answered. "Nevertheless..."

Back in the camp they had left a little sparring match was going on.

"How long have those two men been sitting here?" Fairways had asked her. Richenda tossed her head.

"O, not more than a couple of hours!"

"A couple of hours?"

"Such a charming afternoon! Such a change and such delightful men!" Yes, she would pique him if she could. "Dear me, I'm afraid I was almost beginning to lose the use of my tongue!"

"You could talk to me."

"Ah, my friend, but it happens that I find no particular delight in talking to you—now."

She had brought him to his feet with that. Triumph mixed with something like cruelty drove her still further:

"You see, I detest the sound of your voice almost as much as I dislike the sight of your face!"

She was a yard away then, walking over the turf to the door of her tent, vanishing inside lest by a quick retreat she should wrest her cheap triumph from her, sitting on the edge of her bed flushed with the sudden battle.

Fairways a tooth bitten deep in his lower lip, till the beads of blood stood out upon it, had said no word. But the fingers of his sinewy hands had clenched deep into his palms until the knuckles showed chalk white above them.

As they sat at dinner that night in the little leaf covered shelter that served them as a veranda not one word passed between them.

All the following morning she wondered if he would keep the en-

Holdingworth watched and frowned a little.

agement they had made with their neighbors across the valley. She was rather pleasantly surprised when his voice came outside her tent an hour before midday:

"If you are ready," he said, "we will start."

She paced in silence beside him down the hill.

The impressionable Anders whose night dreams had been haunted by a pair of dark eyes set in an alluringly tanned face (allowances must be made with regard to the fact that Richenda was the only woman in his immediate neighborhood) found her still more attractive in the fresh primrose colored frock down the front of which swayed a string of jade beads. The faint perfume from her softly shining hair brought a queer sudden intoxication across his senses, an unveiled admiration into his wide blue eyes.

Holdingworth, watching them, frowned a little, hoped silently that the young ass would not make a fool of himself.

The camp of the two men lay in a fertile, thickly wooded hollow, beyond which was an area of dense forest.

The meal, with its inevitable camping menu of native bred chicken, native grown mealies and various odds and ends from newly opened tins, was cheery. Fairways took his share in the conversation and made himself distinctly more companionable than he had done the previous evening.

To Richenda he addressed exactly enough direct remarks to prevent their hosts realizing that, between these two, a wide abyss yawned. On her part, however, she took but few pains to hide facts.

She would not shield this man who had placed her in such a helpless position. Let the onlookers think just what they liked, she did not care, she told herself. She followed the lead she saw in Anders' eyes, her smile meeting his, her quick retorts capping his every remark.

After the meal was finished they drew their chairs further into the shade of the forest and conversation grew a little slower as the drowsy hum of afternoon fell across the heat-lazed countryside.

A chattering from the leafy heights above drew silence upon their lips. Came the peering of bright eyes from comical, wrinkled, bearded faces, the flying leap of spider limbed bodies, the shrill shriek of a grotesque baby astride its mother's back, clutching her hairy neck frantically in its efforts to remain on its precarious seat, and the troop of monkeys halted in an uncertain, much conversing group within a few yards of the three humans.

"What pretty creatures!" whispered Richenda to Anders.

"I'd love to have one for a pet."

"I think we can manage that," he said, rising quietly from his seat.

"At any rate we'll do our best."

At his movement the troop scampered back a few yards with a simian exclamation of alarm. Anders, taking advantage of the sudden confusion, made his way to the tent, reappearing a few moments later with a bunch of bananas and an empty narrow necked pickle bottle in his hands.

"Now," he said, "watch your Uncle Reginald and he'll show you how they do things in South India."

The monkeys, greedy eyed, had drawn nearer in an excited group at the sight of the coveted golden fruit. Anders placed half a thick banana inside the bottle and, nearer the mouth, some smaller pieces.

To the neck he tied a long string. Then carefully he placed the trap at the foot of the trees which held the gesticulating tribe.

Came a clamor of monkey talk, tentative dashes of approach from the bolder spirits toward the coveted food so near at hand, shrill yells of warning from more timid animals in the topmost branches. At length a leader of his fellows stole near enough to snatch a morsel from the mouth of the bottle, scuttling immediately back to his leafy ambush with the delicacy pouched in a bulging cheek. Another and another emulated his advantage till at last only the largest portion was left inside the bottle and, gingerly inserting his hand, one small trembling creature closed his greedy fingers round this piece.

Upon him descended Anders with the blanket that a waiting native held out to him.

The three other spectators watched to see the monkey fly, but the chattering creature, wild with terror, remained with its hand fixed in the bottle till both were prisoner in the enveloping folds of the blanket.

Anders came back to them then.

"Mrs. Fairways," he smiled, "your pet makes obeisance to his mistress."

"He seems to do it very blasphemously," she laughed as the little face peeped from a gap in the blanket and with much contortion engaged itself, apparently, in telling the world exactly what it thought about the company before it.

"Why didn't the little idiot let go the banana and take its hand out of the bottle?" said Fairways.

Anders explained that it is unusual for a monkey to give up any food it once gets its fingers upon, and this habit, mingled with terror, had caused the creature to tighten his hold on the banana.

Social Gaieties Continue To Be Given Out of Doors

With the continuation of summer weather, although September is an acknowledged fall month, social affairs seek at fresco settings and society still plays out of doors. At the tea-dance this afternoon at the Biltmore, members of the younger social contingent will gather on the picturesque terrace of this fashionable hotel and the beautiful terraces of the Piedmont Driving club and the East Lake Country club will be happy assembling spots this evening for dinner and dancing. Popular college belles who are leaving next week for various colleges and prominent members of society who have recently returned from Europe, mountain and seashore resorts will be honor guests in a number of congenial parties given at the tea-dance and the club dinner-dances.

Mrs. Sutton Gives Bridge for Visors

Mrs. E. B. Sutton was hostess at a bridge party Thursday afternoon at her home on Wilkes street. In honor of her sister, Mrs. James Perry, of Franklin, N. C., who is her guest.

Zinnias and other beautiful flowers from the hostess' garden were used lavishly in decorating.

Throughout the apartment a profusion of summer flowers in the shades of rose lavender and yellow were used. In the dining room the tea table was exquisitely appointed in every detail, being overlaid with imported lace and graced by a centerpiece with a large silver basket filled with rose gladioli, summer lilacs and golden glow. Encircling the centerpiece were silver caudexes holding unshaded yellow tapers tied with lavender tulle and placed at intervals were silver compots filled with yellow gladioli.

Known for her musical ability throughout the south, and especially for her power of attracting music from others, Mrs. E. B. Hines, of Millidgeville, Ga., will undoubtedly draw a large audience of parents and teachers as well as youngsters this morning at the better film matinee at the Howard theater, when she will lead the audience in community singing. Census Reveals Astonishing Facts

According to the 1920 Census, there are 8,549,512 women and girls employed in all trades in the United States. Nearly nine million women would make a vast army.

Napoleon said, "An army travels on its stomach." This woman's army travels on its general health. Probably there is scarcely a woman in it who has not forced herself to work when she was not able. In all sorts of weather and under trying conditions, like good soldiers, they stick to their posts.

Many women have learned that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helps to keep them fit to work.

Conditions in Europe Show Great Improvement, Rich Says

European nations are on a sound business basis and are more nearly approaching a state of normal conditions than at any time since the end of the world war, in the opinion of Walter Rich, president of M. Rich & Bros. company, who returned from a tour of Europe.

Mr. Rich expressed the optimistic opinion that relations between the United States and European nations would be on a more amicable basis than in the past. He said that the "amateur diplomats" and "exaggerated" opinions of the past had been replaced by a more realistic view of the situation.

Mr. Rich said that the European nations were now in a position to take advantage of the opportunities offered by the United States. He said that the European nations were now in a position to take advantage of the opportunities offered by the United States.

Employees of the M. Rich company gave Mr. Rich a cordial reception on his return. A huge bunch of flowers six feet high was placed on his desk when he returned to the store Friday.

Florida County Plans Road to Georgia Line; Bond Issue To Be Sold

Lake City, Fla., September 3.—(Special.)—Columbia county on September 7, will sell $500,000 worth of road construction bonds, bearing 6 percent. These bonds provide for the building of a road north of Lake City to the Georgia line and a road to the east coast. When this road is completed it will be the most direct route from Georgia points to the east coast, striking that point near Palatka.

Columbia county is one of the wealthiest counties in Florida and the activity being manifested at this time, discloses that no investments are safer than Columbia county's road bonds. These bids will be opened by the county commissioners of the county.

Public Referendum On City Clerk Taken Off Primary Ballot

Election of an Atlanta city clerk by popular ballot instead of by council as at present, will not be presented to voters in the city's primary September 22, it was announced Friday afternoon, following a meeting of the city democratic committee at noon in the city hall.

The committee voted unanimously to rescind its action providing for a referendum on the proposal in the approaching primary in which the measure was presented Friday to the committee set forth that the matter of an entirely new charter for Atlanta now is pending and that action at this time on a proposal involving only one officer would be confusing to voters.

Dr. Samuel Green, committeeman from the fourth ward, presented the petition. He then moved that the referendum proposal be rescinded. His motion was seconded by Committee-man Jacob V. Bostick and it was carried without a dissenting vote. W. J. Laney, secretary of the committee, presided at the meeting and announced that 28 members were present.

MELLON DEPARTS TO SEE LONDON AFTER PARIS TRIP

Paris, September 3.—(AP)—After three days of quiet sightseeing and shopping, Andrew W. Mellon, American secretary of the treasury, left Paris for London this afternoon, accompanied by Theodore Roosevelt of the United States.

Mr. Mellon is on his way to London to see the British secretary of the treasury, Lord Birkenhead, and to discuss the proposed loan of $500,000,000 to the United States.

At the station he again reminded the journalists that his visit to Paris had been one for pleasure only, but the French newspapers seemingly cannot believe that the debt subject was entirely ignored in his conversations with Premier Poincare, Foreign Minister Briand and M. Moreau.

ARMY WORMS DAMAGE COTTON IN CHATTOOGA

Summerville, Ga., September 3.—(Special.)—Army worms have caused considerable damage to cotton in all sections of Chattooga county, it is reported, during the past 10 days, but most of the farmers have fought the pest with calcium arsenate and the situation is much improved.

The first open bolls of cotton of the season were displayed here Friday, coming from the farm of the Summerville Cotton mills, below town, where it is said an almost normal crop will be produced.

COULD NOT PUT ON HER SHOES

Mrs. Daugherty Was so Weak

In a little town of the Middle West was a discouraged woman. For four months she had been in such poor health that she could not get out of doors.

Unable to do her work, unable to go out of doors to enjoy a friendly chat with her neighbors, life seemed dark indeed to Mrs. Daugherty.

Then one day, a booklet was left at her front door. It lay there for days. Soon she was reading with quickened interest. The little booklet was filled with letters from women in conditions similar to hers who had found better health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I began taking the Vegetable Compound," Mrs. Daugherty writes, "and after I took the third bottle, I found relief. I am on my eleventh bottle and I don't have that trouble any more, and feel like a different woman. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to everyone I see who has trouble like mine. I am willing to answer any letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Ed. Daugherty, 1208 Orchard Ave., Muscatine, Iowa.

Nineteen City and State Candidates Air Differences

The political thermometer Friday night continued to soar as time for the state and city primaries continued to draw near and candidates aired their differences and made impassioned pleas for nominations.

Nineteen aspirants for posts in the district, state and city races appeared at a great gathering at Hemphill and Tenth street, the races for mayor again occupying the spotlight and furnishing the only excitement of the event.

Robert A. Gordon, Charles M. Ford, J. Allen Couch and I. N. Ragsdale, all seeking the nomination for the mayoralty post, made speeches in an effort to sell themselves to voters of the fifth, Dr. L. N. Huff did not appear.

Continuing his assault on Mr. Ragsdale's record while a member of Fulton county commission, Mr. Gordon declared that Commissioner Ragsdale could have appealed to citizens of the county to save the treasury if other commissioners insisted on useless and expensive improvements, thus practically forcing the county into bankruptcy.

Mr. Ragsdale retorted by exhibiting a letter from Henry M. Wood, clerk of the commission, to the effect that the county was free of debt on January 1 of this year. Mr. Ragsdale cited his own record for public service.

1,700-Foot Block. "If as Mr. Ragsdale claims the county was not in debt, why did the December, 1925, grand jury hit it in its presentments the expenditure of about $800,000 in interest on borrowed money for the year?" Mr. Gordon asked. "And last night Mr. Ragsdale stated that only about a block was paved near his property, the county since he has been a member of the commission, but records show this stretch to be about 1,700 feet—a rather long block."

"I want Mr. Ragsdale to answer this question: Why did he wait to resign his office as county commissioner until after it was too late to elect in the county races a successor and then appoint a man of his own choice?"

Mr. Ragsdale, in answer to this question, said that he had waited until after the election because he had been a member of the commission, but records show this stretch to be about 1,700 feet—a rather long block.

Quarrel Over Diamond Ring Causes Man, 70, To Kill Girl

ENDS OWN LIFE AFTER SHOOTING GIRL

Lexington, Ky., September 3.—(AP)—A quarrel over the size of the stone in a diamond ring led to the slaying of a pretty red-haired telephone operator today by her 70-year-old suitor, who later committed suicide.

Kelly C. Kirby, wealthy restaurateur and hotel man of Charleston, W. Va., fired a bullet into the brain of Miss Mildred McDaniel, 26, of Brooklyn, N. Y., while she slept in a hotel here this morning and then entered the bathroom and shot himself twice, dying before help could be summoned by Miss Alm Gregory, also of Brooklyn, who had accompanied the couple to Lexington Wednesday.

For months, Miss Gregory said Kirby had been lavish in his gifts, telling of the trip. "We lived together in Brooklyn, boarding with a very nice family who thought that Mr. Kirby was my uncle."

"We wired her to meet him in Charleston, W. Va., and when she left Brooklyn a week ago today she begged Kirby to come along with her so she could avoid being with him as much as possible," she continued.

"We arrived in Charleston last Saturday. He bought himself a car in Charleston and we drove it to Lexington, arriving Wednesday afternoon."

The bodies are being held pending word from relatives.

The will gave his estate to his sister, Mrs. Pome Parker, of Jessamine county, Kentucky.

A codicil read: "If anything happens to the girl friend that is with me, would like for her to have the money that is in the Second National bank—that is if she is buried in my lot in the Lexington cemetery."

The codicil said that "if the girl is not buried in my lot, then I don't want anything on her expenses at all."

Girls Lived Together. "Mildred begged me to come down here with her," Miss Gregory said, "telling of the trip. 'We lived together in Brooklyn, boarding with a very nice family who thought that Mr. Kirby was my uncle.'"

"We wired her to meet him in Charleston, W. Va., and when she left Brooklyn a week ago today she begged Kirby to come along with her so she could avoid being with him as much as possible," she continued.

Houghton to Speak ON POLITICAL THEME

"What Every Mayor Should Know" is to be the Sunday night subject at the Baptist tabernacle in which Dr.

Declaring that the fifth district "hadn't got a nubbing out of the congressional corn crib" of several years, W. H. Braswell, speaking in behalf of the candidacy of Walter A. Sims for congress, urged the support of his candidate, whom he asserted "don't pussyfoot on any question" at a political rally in a Bessie Brannon park in South Kirkwood.

In outlining what he considered the issues in the present congressional campaign now in its last lap, Mr. Braswell asserted "just look into the Sunday papers for reproductions of letters between Leslie Steel and Congressman W. D. Upshaw and see for yourselves as to whether or not two have entered in an agreement for the congressional post."

In launching his attack upon Steele, Mr. Braswell declared that there was not a single bill passed in the legislature which bore the name of Steele. He said that the alleged "courthouse ring" of Decatur, which was the "wheel and pulley" which revolved around Steele, wanted to get him out of the courthouse and therefore were behind him solidly in the present race.

Sims is a statesman, honest as the day is long and has done great things in building up the schools of Atlanta while mayor, Mr. Braswell asserted. He charged that Steele had "paid hirelings," who went around "praising him to the skies."

Countering the charges of Braswell, William Schley Howard, speaking in behalf of Mr. Steele, declared that "I am not a paid hireling of

Will H. Houghton will touch on political matters and the school situation in this city.

This is not to be a political meeting, it was said, although many candidates will be present.

The service will open with a big song service under leadership of E. Powell Lee, new church director of the tabernacle. This will be Mr. Lee's first appearance.

The morning subject will be "What Is It To Be a Believer?"

UPSHAW DEcriES MUD-SLINGING

Declaring that he has not indulged in mud-slinging as both of his opponents have done and that "if at times I have answered my opponents cuttingly it was done with the sharp edge of the truth," Congressman W. D. Upshaw defended his political record at a rally at Howell park in West End Friday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Upshaw went further into the details concerning various attacks on his record as a congressman and the statement that he is not a resident of Fulton county. "I hereby indict fraudulent anti-Upshaw triumvirate—Steele, Steele and Howard, with being guilty of colossal deception or criminal ignorance, when in face of my long identity with this community and in face of the courthouse record that my wife and I are registered voters in Fulton county, they still brazenly reflect on the intelligence of the people of this district by declaring that I am not a citizen of the county where I pay my taxes and vote," Mr. Upshaw said.

"What they are trying to do is to keep the people from thinking of the supreme issue—and that is the liquor crowd all over the nation are anxious to see me defeated."

"Campaign Bunk." "A so-called lawyer who does not know the difference between a resident or a half-dwelling residence as some men maintain them and a legal domicile as settled by a citizen's declaration where he has long been a citizen and registers voter certainly does not know enough to represent in congress the capital district of Georgia," Mr. Upshaw said.

Upshaw declared that nothing more stupid has ever appeared in any campaign than the following utterance made by L. J. Steele at the Atlanta club last night. "If Mr. Upshaw is nominated the greatest district south of the Ohio and Potomac rivers will have a republican congressman for the next two years, and if he should be nominated a republican will run against him in the general election on the grounds of Upshaw is not a resident of the district." First of all it is clear that Mr. Steele has joined the prophets by predicting that a republican congress will be elected when all the leading democrats of congress believe that the house will be democratic, Mr. Upshaw stated, and it is all campaign bunk.

Hill Issues Statement. Other speaking dates for Upshaw announced from the headquarters Friday night for today are as follows: Southern shops at 11:30 o'clock at a barbecue, near East Atlanta at 2 o'clock today, Lithonia at 4 o'clock, Zingra schoolhouse at 7 o'clock and last speaker at Decatur courthouse at 8 o'clock.

E. R. Hill, well-known Atlanta attorney with the firm of Hill and Adams, issued a signed statement to the Upshaw campaign headquarters Friday afternoon, declaring that Upshaw and Senator Harris through their efforts in Washington, D. C., were responsible for more than 400 claims for government employees who labored at Chandler warehouse, Ford McPherson, Camp Jessup, Ford plant, shoe reclamation department and Camp Gordon, after the government first vainly considered the claims.

Vaughan Addresses Civilians. M. E. Vaughan, Atlanta business man, was principal speaker at the regular weekly luncheon of the Civilians club Friday at 12:30 o'clock at the Atlanta Athletic club. Mr. Vaughan spoke on "Modern Methods of Education." An unusually large crowd of civilians heard the talk. An entertainment program also was presented at the luncheon.
